

Language Teaching in Multicultural Contexts: An Acceleration of Teaching English as a Second Language

Dear Colleagues,

In second language learning, language teachers or instructors can use various methods and strategies, such as grammar-translation, communicative, and audiolingual approaches, to teach a second language. In addition, multimedia and technology such as language learning software and mobile apps can help facilitate more interactive and engaging second language learning.

This research topic aims to accelerate Language Teaching in Multicultural Contexts: The study of language teaching in multicultural contexts, such as culturally diverse language classes or language education for migrants.
